personalised aquariums

Example of context-setting of the Laguna Mono model in the fish division of a department store. The clear and bright design of the aquarium perfectly matches with the surrounding environment, giving thorough visibility to the fish product that lies in the tank.

Versatile example of how an aquarium can be arranged and composed of. This model has been designed ad hoc and it is a true highlight inside a restaurant. The most interesting particular concerns the plant engineering; in order to meet the aesthetic needs, the various functioning systems have been arranged in the lower floor of the restaurant.

Creation of an impressive glass-fronted plant for the exposition of alive fish products. This aquarium has been inserted between the two columns of a restaurant room in a well-known restaurant in Riccione.

Example of a personalisation of an aquarium fish farm of cm. 260x70x158h. (volume), introduced in the environment of a small restaurant room.

Here is an illustration of how the basic model "Elite" can be transformed and personalised: through the panels in line with the rest of the furniture of the restaurant and through a peculiar position of the aquarium in the room, the marine habitat seems to become all one thing together with the surrounding environment.
